

RealStars

- A world without sex trafficking

- Join us in fighting modern slavery

Do you want to show the world that your company stands for freedom and equality? Then you should consider cooperating with RealStars. We enable you to act for change and live up to your stakeholders' expectations. RealStars is a nonprofit organization that directs the spotlight on the subject of sex trafficking in Europe.

Is sex trafficking really a problem?

United Nations estimate that 4 million people around the world become victims of trafficking each year. Many of the victims are sold to Europe, which is the continent with the highest number of sex slaves per capita in the world. However, change is possible if efforts are made both in the victims' home countries and in countries where sexual slavery occurs.

How do we work?

By working preventively through campaigns and formation of opinion RealStars hopes to channel the strong opinion that exists for a Europe free from trafficking. Our partners are businesses, schools and private individuals. We create opportunities for them to participate and help influence key decision makers at European level.

Become a partner to RealStars.

We offer many different ways of cooperation.

As a RealStars partner your company takes stand for equality and human rights. You support RealStars through sponsorship and donations which will be used in fighting sex trafficking.

In return, RealStars offers you:

- A joint information campaign tailored to your business, your staff and customers.
- Recognizing you as an official partner to RealStars on our website. You also get the permission to use our logo on your website and other kinds of communication.

The quest for freedom and equality is about something bigger than that of preventing a single individual from exploitation. It is about building a socially sustainable world. Let's do it together!
